Chair Report

2026 has been a transformative year for Stronger Families Foundation. We have expanded the reach of our core program, have added program offerings, and have elevated our standing as a leader in addressing family and domestic violence in Western Australia.

The expansion of our core program, Caring Dads, has come through a new service contract with the Department of Communities. We will now offer the Caring Dads program in the Bunbury and Cannington regions, in addition to the existing offerings in the Perth CBD and Peel regions.

The Caring Dads program is an evidence-based men's behaviour change program, developed at the University of Western Ontario, in Canada. Our status as a leading provider of Caring Dads has been formalised this year in a fee-for-service arrangement with the University of Western Ontario for clinical consultancy services that we provide in Western Australia.

We have also expanded our offerings with the introduction of The Ripple Project. In collaboration with Allambee Counselling, we have developed a curriculum focussing on consent and coercive control, to be delivered to High School students. The design is complete, the agreements are in place, and we are excited to transition to the operational phase of this program in Q3 this year, commencing at John Tonkin College.

The Ripple Project depends on philanthropic support. It was the Governor's Benefit Ball in August 2025, of which we were a beneficiary, that underpinned the development of The Ripple Project, and we are incredibly thankful to again be a beneficiary of the Governor's Benefit Ball in 2026. Additionally, we have received generous support from the John and Bella Perry Foundation, and the Nunya Ubuntu Foundation.

The incredible growth of Stronger Families Foundation over recent months has been hard-earned. We commend the entire Stronger Families team for their professional and dedicated service.

As Board we extend our special thanks to our Founder and CEO, Geoff Hart-Davies. His visionary leadership has been the springboard of our growth. At the same time, we are extremely pleased that at last we have been able to expand the staffing around our CEO and clinicians - such that we have great confidence regarding the continued growth and operational excellence of our organisation.

And of course, the growth of Stronger Families Foundation matters for one reason only, namely, that it furthers our mission to break the cycle of intergenerational violence.

To everyone that has supported us on this mission over the last year, a sincere thank you.

A Year of Strategic Momentum

In the 2025/2026 financial year, Stronger Families Foundation navigated a transformative shift from a regional service provider in Peel to a multi-region organisation, all while maintaining rigorous clinical standards and client safety. Our expansion into Bunbury, Cannington, and Perth was supported by a strategic focus on building a robust middle-management layer, including the recruitment of a permanent Operations Manager and Clinical Coordinator. This structural investment has resolved previous capacity bottlenecks and allowed us to scale effectively without compromising our mission.

Our operational model now includes a deeper integration with Multi-Agency Case Management (MACM) processes and the piloting of culturally grounded co-design initiatives for a Noongar-specific Caring Dads model. We also launched The Ripple Project in partnership with Allambee Counselling, an 8-week consent-based youth program, alongside our continued work in workplace prevention through initiatives like Better Dads.

Clinical impact remains the core of our operations. Through our Integrated Accountability Framework and dedicated Mother Contact team, we continue to verify that our programs lead to genuine behaviour change and reduced coercive control. This year, 73 fathers participated in our core Caring Dads program with a 57.21% completion rate, significantly outperforming national benchmarks, while another 72 fathers were supported through our Steps Towards Caring pathway. In total, our services directly supported 92 mothers and impacted the lives of 182 children.

To support this growth, we have digitised our referral intake workflows, reducing contact time from five days to 24 hours, and embedded enhanced workforce wellbeing measures. As we transition from rapid scaling to operational consolidation, we remain committed to our vision of breaking the cycle of intergenerational violence.

Having been recognised as the Winner of the 2025 ALCOA Business of the Year Award in the Charities and Not-For-Profit category and a finalist in the WA Regional Business Excellence Awards, Stronger Families enters the new financial year with strong momentum to continue turning accountability into lasting personal transformation for the families we serve.

With our middle-management team firmly established, multi-site funding secured, and clinical systems locked in, our focus moves from rapid scaling to operational consolidation. I extend my deepest gratitude to our clinical and administrative staff, and sector partners who work on the frontlines of family safety every day.

Together, we remain steadfast in our commitment to turning accountability into lasting personal transformation.

Our Impact

The data presented for 2026 financial year reflects significant engagement across key referral and service categories, highlighting the broad reach and impact of the programs. A total reach of 936 individuals was achieved through combined referrals and those directly impacted by services.

Growth is driven not only by an increase in direct referrals but also by a more rigorous approach to identifying and supporting the ‘silent’ beneficiaries of family violence interventions: the mothers and children. ”

Referral Volume and Service Intake

Referrals came from the Department of Communities, the Department of Justice, law enforcement, courts, mediators and self-referrals. Across FY 25/26, Stronger Families Foundation (SFF) received 619 referrals, with Steps Towards Caring (Steps) the largest single category at 401. Steps continues to act as the primary entry pathway for fathers seeking support, and each referral is formally assessed before a participant progresses. Of those referred to Steps, 27 went on to engage with the Caring Dads programme.

Caring Dads, our flagship programme, received 218 referrals, showing continued engagement from fathers seeking support and intervention. Over the twelve months, 73 fathers took part in Caring Dads across eight programmes delivered, with 43 fathers, or 59 per cent, completing the programme.

As part of Caring Dads, we work holistically with the whole family wherever possible. In FY 25/26 we worked with 92 mothers connected to Caring Dads participants, providing co-parenting support, safety planning and related services.

Impact and Reach

Total reach for the year was 936. This figure combines all initial referrals to Caring Dads and Steps, with the mothers we worked alongside and the children who benefitted from their fathers participating in the programme.

The Number of children benefitted from Caring Dads stands at 182. Set against the 73 fathers who participated, this indicates that each father in the programme affects the safety and wellbeing of 2.5 children on average.

Beyond direct delivery, we shared our practice with the wider sector, providing 41 hours of Caring Dads clinical supervision to other organisations. This included conducting 16 Caring Dads clinical consultation sessions nationally to Caring Dads participants, providing co-parenting support, safety planning and related services.

Data covers 1 July 2025 - 30 June 2026

Case study: Rebuilding Trust and Restoring Family Safety

Our participant, 30 years old, Aboriginal, was referred through joint Child Protection and Justice pathways.

He demonstrated good commitment by completing 15 of 17 group sessions while maintaining drug and alcohol abstinence throughout the program.

Key Behavioural & Attitudinal Shifts

- Ownership of Past Abuse: Shifted from deflecting blame to taking full, transparent responsibility for past verbal and physical violence, property damage, and substance-fuelled neglect.
- Understanding Whole-Family Impact: Developed deep insight into how domestic abuse directly damages children's emotional safety and undermines a mother's capacity to parent effectively.
- Child-Centered Communication: Applied active self-reflection during unsupervised visits, moving away from guilt-driven overcompensation toward setting healthy boundaries and responding calmly to his children rather than reacting impulsively.
- Commitment to Repair: Acknowledged that rebuilding trust requires patience tailored to each child's unique developmental needs, while demonstrating genuine willingness to make amends without expecting immediate forgiveness.

Concrete Safety & Life Outcomes

- Safe Reunification: Successfully progressed from restricted contact to achieving regular, unsupervised access with his three children, alongside building constructive, supportive relationships with their primary carers.
- Sustained Recovery & Community Impact: Maintained complete sobriety, actively participates in peer support groups, and is currently enrolled in tertiary studies to become an Aboriginal community support worker.

Stronger Families: A Strategic Response to Family Violence

The Stronger Families Pathway offers a comprehensive suite of interventions tailored to boys and men at every stage of their journey, providing a structured map for personal change that spans from adolescence through to fatherhood.

Developed as a direct response to the National Plan to End Violence against Women and Children 2022–2032 and the Western Australian Path to Safety 2020–2030, the Pathway operationalises the four critical pillars of the National Plan: Prevention, Early Intervention, Response, and Recovery.

By centering perpetrator accountability alongside victim-survivor safety, the model ensures that the burden of change rests with the person using violence. This strategic alignment ensures our programs meet the highest standards of system reform, aiming not just to manage risk, but to break the intergenerational cycles of trauma that affect Western Australian families.

Central to the effectiveness of the Pathway is its evidence-based focus on deconstructing the “Man Box”—the set of rigid, traditional masculine norms identified by Jesuit Social Services as a primary driver of violence. Our work targets these harmful archetypes across the lifespan to address the root causes of aggression.

The Ripple Project engages young men to challenge the “Adolescent Man Box” before these behaviours solidify, while programs like Caring Dads and Steps Towards Caring support adult men in dismantling the pillars of control and emotional restriction.

By replacing these rigid expectations with healthy, empathetic masculinities, the Stronger Families Pathway fosters stronger and safer families and more resilient communities through a structured journey of healing and behavioural change.

Policy Submissions

We submitted detailed recommendations to inform legislative changes aimed at addressing family violence.

Awareness Campaigns

Our digital marketing and public awareness initiatives such as participation in the Western Australian Government’s ‘16 days in WA’ campaign, reached tens of thousands of individuals. These campaigns emphasised the importance of recognising and addressing the signs of domestic violence, while promoting available resources for those in need.

Winners

Stronger Families was honoured as winner of the category 'Charities and Not-for-Profits' in the 2025 ALCOA Peel Business Awards

Strategic Alliances & Sector Partnerships

The systemic reach of our work is underpinned by an integrated network of cross-sector collaborations spanning government bodies, social service agencies, and community frameworks. Through our primary service contracts with the Department of Communities (DoC), we continue to operationalise our core Caring Dads groups across both metropolitan and regional hubs. Our tactical alignment with WA Police (WAPol) and the WA Family Law Courts is fundamental to our intake model, facilitating immediate risk management and established referral streams for high-risk cohorts. We have further deepened our regional footprint through a partnership with Allambee Counselling to deliver The Ripple Project, which is now actively supported by Peel Thunder Football Club. This collaboration leverages Peel Thunder's community reach through player mentors, the hosting of offsite workshop sessions, and the creation of social media content to amplify the program's impact. Furthermore, their commitment includes raising awareness via dedicated match-day campaigns and activities, which reinforces the project's visibility across their extensive community network.

Our executive representation on the board of We Say No to Violence ensures our presence in primary prevention leadership, while co-design efforts with the Nidjalla Waangan Mia Aboriginal Corporation continue for a bespoke Noongar Caring Dads framework.

Our capacity for innovation and regional growth is further enabled by key philanthropic alliances. Stronger Families is privileged to receive the patronage of Their Excellencies the Honourable Chris Dawson AC APM, Governor of Western Australia, and Mrs Darrilyn Dawson; the Governor's Benefit Ball remains a cornerstone of our fundraising efforts and public advocacy. This community-backed support is bolstered by the ongoing investment of the John and Bella Perry Foundation and the Ubuntu Nunya Foundation. Their flexible capital contributions allow us to scale our youth engagement and preventative programs, ensuring our evidence-based clinical services remain accessible and resilient across the state.

Advocacy, Systems Leadership & Policy Influence

Stronger Families is actively driving systemic reform by embedding father-inclusive perpetrator accountability at the highest levels of regional and state policy. Stronger Families maintains advocacy and leadership across a range of organisations - including the Peel Community Development Group (PCDG), We Say No to Violence, the state-level WA Peaks forum and the Men's Behaviour Change Network (MBCN)—ensuring our clinical insights directly inform regional development and funding priorities.

Our team maintains direct advocacy and policy liaison with key political stakeholders, including relevant state and federal ministers, regional politicians and local parliamentary representatives. Beyond program delivery, we operate as a strategic design partner with the Department of Communities to identify regional service gaps, brief ministerial bodies on specialised interventions, and advocate for long-term structural investment in early perpetrator intervention.

Our policy footprint is explicitly mapped against the four pillars of the National Plan to End Violence against Women and Children 2022–2032 and Western Australia's Path to Safety 2020–2030 framework. As a recognised national Caring Dads Centre of Excellence, we extend our policy influence by setting clinical benchmarks across the sector—leading the Australian Clinical Consultation Series for Caring Dads and providing accredited training and supervision to external agencies statewide. Through targeted public communications, ministerial site visits, and sector-wide presentations to regional peak bodies, Stronger Families is actively leading the policy debate away from reactive crisis management toward proactive, workplace-integrated, and primary-prevention frameworks that address the root drivers of family violence before harm occurs.

Working Towards: Culturally Grounded Co-Design

To ensure our evidence-based frameworks are safe, responsive, and meaningful for First Nations families, Stronger Families is actively working towards a culturally grounded adaptation of the Caring Dads program.

In close partnership with the Nidjalla Waangan Mia Aboriginal Corporation, we are laying the foundations to co-design a Noongar-specific model built on a “Yarning, Not Lecturing” methodology.

This approach moves away from rigid classroom-style instruction, instead embedding clinical principles into culturally natural dialogue, reflection, and peer accountability led by First Nations practitioners on Country.

Crucially, while this initiative has received formal endorsement from the Binjareb District Leadership Group and strong encouragement from relevant State and Federal departments, dedicated funding to enable the full rollout has not yet been identified.

Establishing a sustainable funding pathway remains a vital priority because family and domestic violence in Indigenous communities is deeply intertwined with intergenerational trauma, dispossession, and systemic disadvantage.

Standard Western intervention models often fail to engage First Nations fathers effectively, risking high disengagement or resistance. By leveraging men’s intrinsic pride in fatherhood within a culturally safe, trauma-informed framework, this adaptation will break down systemic barriers to help-seeking.

Securing the necessary resources for this project will deliver transformative impact: empowering Aboriginal fathers to take accountability, healing family units, reducing child protection interventions, and directly contributing to national Closing the Gap targets for child safety and family wellbeing across Western Australia.

Case study: Prioritising Safety Through Rigorous Case Management

The following case example demonstrates how safety is prioritised through the rigorous case management as an essential part of the Caring Dads program.

Key Behavioural & Attitudinal Shifts

During a Caring Dads group session, facilitators observed a participant's intimidating behaviour and lack of genuine remorse, noting that his emotional displays appeared performative rather than sincere.

Despite his regular attendance, the participant showed no tangible progress, instead verbalising a belief that the mother's decisions were being coerced by outside influences, such as Child Protection and Family Support, and admitting to a compulsive need to maintain contact.

The clinical value of having "eyes on" the perpetrator became clear when he disclosed a breach of a restraining order to facilitators.

This information, combined with the observation of his escalating obsession and stalking behaviours, and including information from the victim/survivor about his use of location tracking on her phone and making 33 calls in a single day, allowed the team to identify a significant escalation in risk that may have otherwise remained hidden.

Concrete Safety & Life Outcomes

The resulting safety outcome highlights the impact of the Clinical Manager, Family Violence Intervention Clinicians, and the Family Safety Coordinator liaising effectively to protect the mother and infant.

By maintaining consistent Mother Contact, the Family Safety Coordinator was able to provide the victim/survivor with real-time support and validation as she navigated the legal system.

The Clinical Manager played an important role in bridging the communication between the perpetrator's facilitators and the survivor's support team, ensuring that all staff were working with a complete picture of the risk.

This collaborative effort empowered the survivor to report multiple breaches of the Violence Restraining Order (VRO) and Protective Bail Conditions to the police, ultimately leading to the participant's arrest and remand in custody.

Even though the participant failed to achieve personal growth within the program, the integrated response from the Stronger Families staff ensured a positive safety outcome, allowing the mother to access support while the perpetrator was held accountable.

The resulting safety outcome highlights the impact of the Clinical Manager, Family Violence Intervention Clinicians, and the Family Safety Coordinator liaising effectively to protect the mother and infant. ”

Principal Activities

The principal activity of the Foundation during the year was the delivery of father-inclusive family violence intervention services in Western Australia, together with clinical supervision, practitioner training and consultation services to other organisations in the sector. No significant change in the nature of this activity occurred during the year.

Review of Operations

Stronger Families is a registered charity working to end the use of family violence and to improve the safety and wellbeing of children. The Foundation delivers the Stronger Families Pathway, a connected set of programmes spanning prevention, early intervention, response and recovery, aligned to the National Plan to End Violence against Women and Children 2022-2032 and the Western Australian Path to Safety 2020-2030.

During the year the Foundation received 619 referrals across its programmes from the Department of Communities, the Department of Justice, law enforcement, courts, mediators and self-referrals. Seventy-three fathers participated in Caring Dads across eight programmes delivered, with 43 completing. Ninety-two mothers and 182 children received parallel support.

Funds are sourced from government service agreements, philanthropic grants and donations, fee-for-service clinical work including an international revenue-sharing agreement, and personal and corporate giving.

Key Strategies for Achieving Objectives

The Foundation pursues its objectives through the delivery of evidence-based programmes under licence, the development of new interventions where a gap in the service system is identified, and the sharing of clinical expertise with other providers to lift practice standards across the sector. Programme fidelity is maintained through internal and external clinical supervision and adherence to the Caring Dads framework.

Measurement of Performance

The Board monitors performance through a reporting cycle covering clinical and programme delivery, operations and systems, and partnerships and strategic growth. The key areas monitored include:

- Programme delivery against contracted outcomes, including referral volumes, participation and completion rates
- Client safety and risk, including escalations, high-risk cases and waitlist management
- Clinical supervision and workforce capability
- Contract management and compliance obligations Financial position, budget variance and acquittals
- Funding pipeline and partnership development

Compliance is reviewed through a five-layer checklist across administrative, clinical and senior management groups, the Chair and the Board.

Significant Changes in State of Affairs

Two significant changes occurred during the year.

The Foundation executed a Service Level

Agreement with the Department of Communities following a single-source Request for Tender. The agreement continues the Perth metropolitan service and expands delivery to Cannington and Bunbury, moving the Foundation from pilot structures to longer term contractual stability. Recruitment of an Operations Manager, a Clinical Coordinator and four Family Violence Intervention Clinicians was completed during the year.

Standalone funding for the Steps Towards Caring programme, provided through a Western Australia Police pilot, ceased in May 2026. The transition of participants was completed safely and the pre-group methodology has been integrated into the Caring Dads entry pathway.

We are independent of the foundation in accordance with the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional and Ethical Standards Board's APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (the Code) that are relevant to our audit of the financial report in Australia. We have also fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the Code.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of Matter - Basis of Accounting

We draw attention to Note 1 to the financial report, which describes the basis of accounting. The financial report has been prepared for the purpose of fulfilling the foundation's financial reporting responsibilities under the ACNC Act. As a result, the financial report may not be suitable for another purpose. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Responsibility of the Directors for the Financial Report

The Directors of the foundation is responsible for the preparation of the financial report that gives a true and fair view and have determined that the basis of preparation described in Note 1 to the financial report is appropriate to meet the requirements of the ACNC Act and the needs of the members. The Directors responsibility also includes such internal control as the Directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of a financial report that gives a true and fair view and is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial report, the Director is responsible for assessing the foundation's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters relating to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Directors either intend to liquidate the foundation or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Director is responsible for overseeing the foundation's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Report

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial report as a whole is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Australian Auditing Standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial report.

As part of an audit in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the foundation's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Directors.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the foundation's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial report or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the foundation to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial report, including the disclosures, and whether the financial report represents the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the Directors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

- 1) In accordance with the requirements of section 60-30 of the ACNC Act. We are satisfied that:
  - a) we have received all information, explanation and assistance necessary for the conduct of the audit.
  - b) the Directors have kept financial records sufficient to enable a special purpose financial report to be prepared and audited.
  - c) the Directors have kept other records as required by the ACNC Act.
- 2) the Foundation has complied with the requirements of the Australian Taxation Office, Taxation Administration (Public Ancillary Fund) Guidelines 2022.

The financial statements have been prepared on an accruals basis and are based on historical costs unless otherwise stated in the notes.

Significant accounting policies adopted in the preparation of these financial statements are presented below and are consistent with prior reporting periods unless otherwise stated.

2. Significant accounting policies

Revenue and other income

All revenue is stated net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST).

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and is presented net of returns, discounts and rebates.

Revenue is recognised when the amount of the revenue can be measured reliably and it is probable that economic benefits associated with the transaction will be realised.

Interest revenue

Interest is recognised when received.

Rendering of services

Revenue in relation to rendering of services is recognised depending on whether the outcome of the services can be measured reliably. If this is the case then the stage of completion of the services is used to determine the appropriate level of revenue to be recognised in the period.

If the outcome cannot be reliably measured then revenue is recognised to the extent of expenses recognised that are recoverable.

Other revenue

Other revenue is recognised on an accruals basis when the company is entitled to it.

Goods and services tax (GST)

Revenue, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST), except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of GST.

The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included as part of receivables or payables in the balance sheet.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash on hand, demand deposits and short-term investments which are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and subject to an insignificant risk of change in value.

Property, plant and equipment

All assets, excluding freehold land, are carried at cost less, where applicable, any accumulated depreciation.

Depreciation

All assets, excluding freehold land, are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the asset's effective life, commencing when the asset is ready for use.

Case study: Breaking Intergenerational Patterns & Fostering Early- Years Safety

The following case example of a case referred via the Family Domestic Violence Response Team (FDVRT), the participant (39 years old, non-Aboriginal Australian) demonstrated commitment by achieving a 100% attendance record, completing all 17 sessions of the Caring Dads program.

Key Behavioural & Attitudinal Shifts:

- Empathy & Partner Perspective:
Transformed his outlook on co-parenting disputes, recognising that his ex-partner's caution stemmed from legitimate fear due to his past abusive behaviour, shifting his mindset from anger to active compassion
- Emotional Regulation & Trigger Awareness: Developed practical self-regulation strategies during high-stress parenting moments with his infant daughter, learning to recognise physiological triggers, pause, and regulate his distress rather than reacting impulsively.
- Breaking Intergenerational Patterns:
Reflected deeply on how his own childhood exposure to harsh discipline shaped his stress responses, committing to breaking that cycle to serve as a "safe base" for his child.

- Accountability over Defensiveness:
Moved past initial defensiveness regarding legal restrictions, overcoming shame-driven blame to accept full responsibility for the impact of his domestic violence.

Concrete Safety & Life Outcomes

- Proactive Skill-Building: Independently sought out individual counselling and evidence-based parenting training (Circle of Security) to further reinforce non-violent parenting behaviors.
- Commitment to Long-Term Child Safety:
The participant successfully integrated cognitive-behavioral tools into daily life, allowing him to navigate contact stressors constructively while prioritising his infant daughter's long-term safety and well-being.

Programs and Services

Stronger Families is committed to fostering positive and lasting change within families by addressing the root causes of relationship and behavioral challenges. Our Stronger Families Pathway combines three core programs—Steps Toward Caring, Caring Dads, and Strengthening Families—to create a holistic and seamless pathway for individuals and families to achieve healthier dynamics and long-term stability.

The Ripple Project

The Ripple Project, titled Rethinking Strength, is a school based primary prevention programme developed with Allambee Counselling. It works with young people aged 13 to 17 in the Bindjareb (Peel) region to disrupt the adolescent Man Box or Manosphere before harmful attitudes settle. The programme addresses a specific gap, in that young people often understand why respect matters but have not practised how to act on it under pressure.

Steps Toward Caring

Caring Dads is our flagship programme and an internationally recognised group intervention for fathers who have harmed their children or exposed them to family violence. It works intensively on the adult Man Box, on the pillars of control and emotional restriction, holding fathers accountable while building their capacity to parent safely. Referrals come from the Department of Communities, the Department of Justice, law enforcement, courts, mediators and self-referrals, and every referral is formally assessed before a father joins a group.

Strengthening Families

Extension program

Strengthening Families provides dedicated support to the mothers and children connected to the fathers in our programmes, through co-parenting support, safety planning and related services.

Working with the whole family keeps victim-survivor safety in view throughout the intervention and means the burden of change stays with the person using violence rather than shifting onto the family around him.

Community Education and Awareness

Education is a key pillar of our mission. Through workshops, public seminars, and awareness campaigns, we empower our community with the knowledge and tools to address and prevent domestic violence. Our campaigns reached over 20,000 people this year, fostering a culture of accountability and support.

Collaborative Partnerships

Collaboration lies at the heart of Stronger Families' success. By working closely with local organisations, government agencies and businesses, we have grown a network of support that amplifies our impact and ensures holistic service delivery to a diverse population across the Binjareb, Whadjuk and wider state and national regions.

The Ripple Project: Old rules, new algorithms

The Ripple Project is a primary prevention initiative designed to move adolescent boys and girls (13–17) in the Peel/Binjareb region from a passive understanding of respect to the active practice of it.

The manosphere is the delivery mechanism.

The Man Box is what it is delivering. ”

The Ripple Project is our primary prevention response and sits at the front of the Stronger Families Pathway. It works with young people before harmful attitudes settle into behaviour.

The Manosphere and the Man Box

Most readers will have encountered the term manosphere, whether through the Netflix drama Adolescence, Louis Theroux's documentary, or a conversation at home about what a teenager is watching. The eSafety Commissioner describes it as an umbrella term for online spaces that advocate narrow and rigid ideas about what it means to be a real man, including the stereotype that wealth, appearance and dominance over women are the markers of male worth, alongside the false claim that gender equality has come at men's expense.

Its appeal is not difficult to understand. eSafety points out that this content promises a formula for guaranteed success, physically, sexually and financially, at exactly the age when young people are dealing with the ordinary insecurities of adolescence. A Movember study of more than 3,000 young men aged 16 to 25 across Australia, the United Kingdom and the United States found that those who regularly engage with masculinity influencers reported higher levels of psychological distress, worthlessness and sadness than those who did not.

The manosphere is the delivery mechanism.
The Man Box is what it is delivering.

The Man Box is the term researchers use for the set of rigid rules about how men and boys should behave: be tough, stay in control, never show vulnerability, use aggression to earn respect. These rules predate social media by generations. What the manosphere has done is package them, make them entertaining, and put them into recommender feeds where boys encounter them whether they went looking or not.

The Men's Project at Jesuit Social Services measured this directly. Its 2025 Adolescent Man Box study surveyed 1,401 young people aged 14 to 18 of all genders and found that between 60 and 63 per cent of both boys and girls believe most people in Australia expect teenage boys to be manly, confident and strong at all times. The important finding is what sits underneath. Most young people, of any gender, reject these rigid ideas themselves. The pressure they perceive from the world around them is considerably greater than what they actually believe.

That gap between perceived expectation and private belief is where prevention work belongs, and it is the gap the Ripple Project is designed to close. eSafety's own guidance points to the approach we have built the programme around, which is widening the range of healthy role models available to boys across family, school, sports clubs and community groups, rather than simply telling them what not to watch.

From design to delivery

The Ripple Project exists because Stronger Families was named a beneficiary of the Governor's Benefit Ball in 2025. That support funded the development work, and without it we would not have been in a position to begin. We are grateful to the Governor and to everyone who gave, and we want to be plain that this programme started with their generosity.

This year the work moved from development into live intervention. The age-appropriate curriculum covering coercive control, consent and power imbalances was completed and module development finalised, ready for school roll-outs from Term 3.

Ripple is built to close a practical gap as well as an attitudinal one. Young people often understand why respect matters but have not practised how to act on it under pressure, so the workshops turn consent, emotional regulation and bystander action into rehearsed habits rather than abstract principles. A trial at John Tonkin College is lined up and ready to begin, and will be our first opportunity to test the curriculum in a school setting and learn from it before wider delivery.

Partnership and reinforcement

Ripple is delivered in partnership with Allambee Counselling, and that partnership has been central to the programme reaching delivery stage this year.

Allambee's clinical involvement expanded across the youth-focused streams of the programme over the reporting period, deepening a strategic alignment that has grown steadily between the two organisations.

Their contribution brings a clinical perspective to prevention work with young people that complements our own expertise with fathers and families, and it means the curriculum has been shaped by practitioners who work directly with the age group it is designed for.

Peel Thunder Football Club has pledged its support for the programme, and will come on board as a formal supporter later in 2026.

Sustainability and the year ahead

Stronger Families has again been named a beneficiary of the Governor's Benefit Ball, which supports the programme's continuity into the coming year.

We also continued working with philanthropic partners including the John and Bella Perry Foundation and the Ubuntu Nunya Foundation, and a review of Ripple's brand identity is underway ahead of corporate and philanthropic fundraising.

Our focus now moves to delivery at scale and to embedding the programme within the school year alongside our partners. Prevention is measured over years rather than reporting periods, and we will share what we learn as the first cohorts complete.
